2018 EAST ATLANTIC GYMNASTICS LEAGUE AWARDS WEEK FIVE – FEBRUARY 5TH

Jillian Winstanley
Senior, GW
Arlington, Mass.

Casey Lauter
Senior, UNH
Northport, N.Y.

Haley Brechwald
Freshman, Pittsburgh
Springfield, Va.

GYMNAST OF THE WEEK:

For the second-straight week and third time this season, Senior Jillian Winstanley (Arlington, Mass.) of George Washington earned the EAGL Gymnast of the Week honor after posting the highest all-around in EAGL this season (39.525) en route to her team tallying the top total in EAGL so far in 2018 (196.525). In GW's Pink meet where the Colonials went 3-0 against Kent State, William & Mary and UW-Oshkosh, Winstanley placed first in the all-around while tying for first on vault (9.900). Additionally she collected two more second-place finishes (9.875 bars and 9.875 beam) and tied for third on floor (9.875). Winstanley earned her third all-around title of the 2018 season and her 39.525 puts her in sole possession of fourth place on GW's all-time all-around score list (her career-high is a 39.550). Winstanley finished on the all-around podium for the fifth-straight week. She has scored above a 39.000 in the last four meets and has broke the 39.000 threshold 11 times since the start of the 2017 season.

SPECIALIST OF THE WEEK:

For the second time this season, senior Casey Lauter (Northport, New York) from the University of New Hampshire, was recognized as EAGL Specialist of the Week for her spectacular beam performance. In an EAGL dual where UNH posted a season-high 196.125 to defeat North Carolina, Lauter matched her career-high (9.950) and recorded the highest score on beam out of any EAGL gymnast this season. She now holds highest beam average in EAGL and the seventh highest average beam score in the nation (9.900). Only eight gymnasts in the country have recorded a higher score this season on beam.

ROOKIE OF THE WEEK:

Freshman Haley Brechwald (Springfield, Va.) collected her third EAGL Rookie of the Week award after claiming the all-around title in a home quad meet against Temple, Towson and NC State. She beat out six other all-around gymnasts with a 39.025, while also tying for first on vault (9.825) and floor (9.875). She added a tied-for-third finish on vault (9.700) and tied-for-ninth finish on beam (9.675). The newcomer has now won the all-around for the third time this season and has collected nine total titles.

WEEK FIVE RECAP:

George Washington (10-2/2-0)
