

2022 George Washington Colonials Preview

The 2022 George Washington Colonials are led by Margie Foster-Cunningham in her 37th season. She is joined by assistant coaches Stephanie Stoicovy Worrell and Chelsea Raineri and volunteer assistant coach Justin Watson.

Deja Chambliss

The Colonials finished the 2021 season ranked No. 46 with a national qualifying score of 195.194 and a regular season record of 4-3. Anna Warhol was named the EAGL Scholar Athlete of the year, and Deja Chambliss qualified for regionals as an individual on vault. The Colonials had two placements on the second all-EAGL team. There were also 18 gymnasts named to the EAGL all-scholastic team.

The 2022 squad consists of four seniors, four juniors, four sophomores and six freshmen.

The Colonials' top returners are senior Deja Chambliss, and sophomore Kendall Whitman. Due to the abbreviated season, Chambliss did not have an NQS to qualify for an all-EAGL team, but she was first-team all-tournament on vault and in the all around because of her performances at the EAGL championship. Whitman was second-team all-EAGL on vault (9.825 NQS) and was the EAGL co-champion on floor. She was also EAGL Rookie of the Week for weeks five and eight.

George Washington brings in seven newcomers for the 2022 season—freshmen Rachel Katz, Gabby Lopez, Madison McMullen, Madison Steskal, Marlee York and Sarah Zois and junior transfer Libby Garfoot. The top contributors are expected to be York, Katz and McMullen. York is a three time level 10 national qualifier with her best finish being an eighth place finish on floor in 2018. Katz is expected to be a major contributor in the vault and floor lineup, while McMullen—who is a mid-year addition for the Colonials—should impact the bars, beam and floor lineups.

Kendall Whitman

The Colonials open up the 2022 season on Sunday, Jan. 16 at home against Cornell, Penn and William & Mary.